Use your card, get cash back

Mountain View Club members and Air Force Club members worldwide now have an opportunity to get cash back or qualify for gift certificates from dozens of major retailers just by using their Club card to charge a purchase. The "Military Free Cash" rewards program offers card holders one point for every $1 they spend on all purchases off base and two points for every $1 when charging an item at any on-base Services activity or the Base Exchange, excluding the BX service station. After accumulating 2,500 points, card holders may redeem these points for $25 cash or a gift certificate from one of the sponsors of the program. Card holders can accumulate up to 60,000 points and have up to two years from the date they were acquired to cash them in before the points expire.

The program is free, renews automatically every year, but card holders are not automatically enrolled. Those who wish to take part in the "Military Free Cash" program must call Chase Bank, which is the Air Force Clubs' financial managers for the Club card, and ask to be enrolled. The toll-free number to call and enroll or ask questions about the program is 1-800-759-0294. This number is the same toll-free number printed on the back of each member's Club card. More details are also available from the Charleston Club office at 963-3914.

24-Hour Client Service. Air Force Club members can access account information 24-hours a day, seven days a week by calling Chase.
